Research News

Looking for cytokines?

Look no further! We've got your research needs covered. Did you know that human cytokines can work well on mouse models? With a few exceptions, most human cytokines are active on mouse cells. In fact, a few human cytokines, and in particular IL-7, exhibit higher specific activities on mouse cells when compared to the corresponding mouse cytokines.

Rodent isotyping in just under 10 minutes!

Did you know that detection strips are available to rapidly and accurately identify the antibody class and subclass in your rat or mouse sample? These are great for screening of low to medium sample numbers. The Serotec isotyping strips offer significant benefits including: faster results due to dip-stick format and reduced workload due to elimination of the need for run multiple ELISAs.

Amazing Cardiovascular facts...

Did you know that an estimated 16.7 million (or 29%) of total global deaths result from the various forms of cardiovascular disease (CVD), many of which are preventable. Read the full article for more amazing cardiovascular facts.
